2-Mercapto-1,3,4-trifluoro-6-(4-isopropyl-2,3,5,6-tetrafluorocyclohexylthio)-1H-imidazole, is an antiviral agent, which is in clinical development for the treatment of Hepatitis C Virus infections.

This paper reports the characterization of this substance as a promising marker of the liver acute-phase response in a rat serum-based assay. The analytical method involved acid hydrolysis, followed by solid phase extraction on Oasis Max 4-well plates, and LC-MS/MS analysis of the hydrolysate. The substance was characterized as a glutathione adduct by negative ion electrospray MS. Its synthesis is reported.1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to a laser system in which a laser beam is focused by an objective lens to perform the writing operation, and more particularly, to a laser scanning system which is suitable for use with a photosemiconductor laser. 2. Description of the Related Art The conventional laser scanning system of the above-stated type is of a system which effects a scanning operation by deflecting the laser beam using a polygonal mirror or the like. Now the invention will be described by the way of example of the scanning of a photosemiconductor laser for recording information in a recording medium.
