WeChat is a popular free messaging service that provides you with a convenient solution to send and receive mobile messages, even when you are at the computer. It offers all the same features as Google or Facebook but in a simpler interface that you like best. To start using WeChat, you will need a WeChat account. You can get it with your phone or computer. You can also create an account online and then install it on your smartphone. However, since WeChat uses your phone number, you can easily sync your account across devices.
