This game will take place in the year of 2149. Earth has survived the consequences of the Asteroid impact and they managed to stop them from happening again. They have a new task, The Orbital Defense System (ODS). ODS is an system that orbisits the Earth and they have just completed the Planet Defense System, they can now hire DPS soldiers to protect the planet and subdue the asteroids that are heading towards the planet. These DPS are able to research up to 6 new unique weapons that will give the player a chance at controlling the war. The game has 3 different levels in which the player can choose to join. Each level will have two different missions where the player can choose to either subdue asteroids that are heading towards the planet or take out and block meteorites that is already inside the planet. Once the level is completed the level will end, The next level will show up in a menu and this is when you will be able to play it. All levels end after 15 minutes if they are not completed. If you die you will have the same amount of money and weapons that you had at the start of the level, which is why it is important to try to survive. Contribute Your Vote Before clicking on start you will be asked to contribute $0.10 to this project so we can continue to make this game as good as possible. After you have contributed and the start button has been clicked you will be able to control the planet and try to destroy all incoming asteroids. If you are lucky you might even get to take down a meteorite and change the outcomes of the future. About the Donation This is an open source donation and all the money goes to us to continue to work on the game. You will get a voting button on your profile that you can use to vote for me to be part of the donation process. By using this button it will help me gain more trust with future members and developers. This will also help me to hire an editor to make the game as good as possible. 1. Introduction In this episode I will be sharing my in-progress game, created using my website Hemsite.com. I will be covering all aspects of what I've done so far, and what I still have to do to get the game ready. I hope you enjoy it, and if you like what you see consider going to Hemsite.com and following me on Twitter @Hemsite for more updates. Please don

Monster Girls is a Role Play. With the advent of new technologies on our environment, the world of the Unidentified "Normal" citizens seemed to have changed. 10 years ago, it seems most people were strange beings, with a big countenance and a thin smile on their faces. People would usually complain when they saw these people. While talking to them, they became the same "strange beings" and spat back in a negative way.

In this world, the many strange beings across the country of the Unidentified, discover a phenomenon in the construction site outside of the city. This thing floats a strange material called Rosé, which turns people
