Each player drives a spaceship in a mine, with the aim to destroy the enemy's mine. The enemy is the opponent. The game begins by choosing two teams of two players each. The teams are even. This results in two groups of enemies and two groups of players. Each player has a specific space vehicle with a set of weapons to take up the offensive or the defense. This game involves a special online mode. Your spaceship can be heavily damaged. For this you must use the recycling machine in order to regenerate your vehicle. When the vehicle is full of coins, you can repair it. You can even go to the repair room. Then you begin with a short tutorial. You need to hit the enemy's ship under the neck. The neck is the reactor of the ship. The enemy must be hit under the belly. This results in an instant defeat. If the enemy is annihilated by a UFO or another player's ship, this results in a victory. The game mode is suitable for 2 to 4 players. Every game is a round. You can start one, two or three rounds. In every game the player with the higher score wins. The win rate is very high because every person of your team should use all their weapons in every fight. You will not get a win if one of the players is defeated before the destruction of the enemy's game. If that happens, you will win. The game is over when c9d1549cdd

Lords of Discord SpellForce 2 - Faith in Destiny will add: - The EU map (or new EU map), designed by Kristian Ganesch - The EU cosmetic set, made by Artwork Crew - The EU sounding track (or new EU sound track), with music composed by Jogrand. Gameplay Details: The British Campaign will involve an extremely gruesome confrontation with Chaos Knights, as well as general Chaos minions. In the French Campaign, a well-armed (not heavily) Chaos army will try to seize the major cities and the pyramids. The German Campaign will be a straight up fight between Chaos and Order armies. The Dark Crystal Campaign will be a mission on the planet of Chaotica - players will lead the Order there to safeguard the artefacts and learn more about the forces at work in the chaotic dimension. As the campaign progresses, players will also acquire additional artifacts - including the weapon of the high priestess Arronax - which will make the games end much more interesting. The Chaos Knights are more than just a single army - players will have to deal with seven Chaos Knight Legions. Many Chaos Knights are going to come to life and attack the Order as normal units. Players will have to take advantage of this situation in order to crush their enemies. Chaos Knights have been outfitted with a new tactical system, which will be explained in a manual to be given at the beginning of the campaign. There will be more types of Chaos minions than ever before. There will be Chaos Acolytes, Chaotic Cultists and Chaos Dragons. Chaotic Druids are coming to power, trying to spread chaos everywhere. The Chaos Lord will be back, along with a new version of the Chaos Lord - a Chaos Lord of Flesh - which will be presented during the British Campaign. Chaos Cultists and Chaos Chariots will be added to the game, as the orders of Chaos will be attempting to spread their influence throughout the galaxy. The Chaos Knights are not alone - the Chaos Brigade will also be playable. More units and spells are coming - Chaos Sorcerers, Chaos Revenants and Chaos Marauders - and several new Chaos spells will be introduced, which will allow Chaos players to earn chaos points faster. New battle spells will also be added. Several new Orders are coming. Two brand new spells have

ES-27 The Compass is a leading e-commerce platform for high performance indoor and multi-scale outdoor-oriented tactical led lighting products. We are happy to partner with the Compass, to present the Tiger Fighter, a quirky, fun and just the right design addition to their range. The commission of 3 of the Compass' top photographers to work on the visuals of the Tiger Fighter product using some of the leading camera lenses of the time, with a view to proving how far photometry equipment has come over the last quarter century. The Compass will launch this product at the end of November using a photo exhibition organised by LuckyCamera. The event will take place in several venues across London. This is a great opportunity for anyone who just wants to be involved in the Compass launch. If you'd like to find out more about the event, and how to apply, then please send an email with a contact number to looch@compassledges.com

Ocean Optics, a Milford, MA based, international technology company for measuring light, was founded in 1949 and is the world's largest supplier of pocket-sized spectrometers, components, and scientific research systems used by researchers, engineers, and students to measure and understand light. More specifically, the company manufactures a wide range of spectrometers that measure both the real and imaginary parts of the spectra of visible, ultraviolet, and infrared light. The Tiger Fighter features a pair of pocket compact spectrometers that measure the real and imaginary parts of the spectra of visible, ultraviolet, and infrared light. The Tiger Fighter spectrometers are complemented by the DViewer for touch control of the light field mapping. In addition to the DViewer, the Mountain Lite L16.4PT e-i-smart light is used for augmenting natural light, and Moon Light Technology's Ark 120-160 is used for performance evaluation of the eyewear. C.Y Gao, the Creative Director of Compass Ledges Ltd, worked with the creative studio Blanca, led by Johannes Schipper, for the formation and development of this project. Being a pilot who loves the design of planes and cars, Gao decided to explore the opportunities for this rugged and rich outdoor light solution in a compact yet powerful but stylish form. Gao explains "I was sitting with my wife on the beach in Mexico, and I was looking through the camera lens to
