string to search for, and not even as a string that you can search for. It's not the reason to buy OV as a FS, which I would agree with. But it is a great reason to buy OV as a sand/gravel, which I don't believe exists. They do have a sand, but it is a 100-300mm thick stretch layer, and not a usable product IMO. Having said that, those OV stones are really solid, and I'm getting a 15% savings. I'm not criticizing, I just didn't understand...when the only reason to look at OV sand is to buy them at a discount. If I had to buy OV sand, I'd rather save a few dollars by buying regular good quality sand than to save on OV sand.

For those who don't know what OV is...You can click on their link and read the description. Basically they are sandstone that they sell at a discount. The reason is that they are used for construction, instead of the typical industrial use. But having said that, they are just the same sandstone as your regular fieldstone and other common construction stone. The big saving is when you consider shipping fees.
