
Torchlight 2 Prismatic BoltI

there's a lot of things you can do with ice prison. you can use it to push away large groups of mobs or use it to trap and kill a boss or elite. you can also use it to slow down and damage enemies and crowds by freezing them in place, effectively destroying their movement and making it easy for you to deal damage with your prismatic bolts. you can use it to stop and kill spiders, and to stun and stop enemies. you can either use the +100% to all damage tier iii bonus or you can directly increase the damage done per second with the tier iii bonus. the value of tier iii bonus is often in the multiplier, but the bonus isn't always the most important part of the skill. tier iii bonus: +10% to all damage dealt when using prismatic bolt +10% to all damage dealt when using all other spells (so prismatic bolt scales off of it) +6% to elemental damage dealt with prismatic bolt +3% to elemental damage dealt with all other spells +50% to maximum elemental damage +50% to max fire damage +25% to max cold damage +25% to max lightning damage the most important part of prismatic bolt is the tier iii bonus, and the next most important part is the damage per second done with prismatic bolt. the prismatic boltI is the quintessential embermage spell. the orb of fire will travel in a straight line, dealing a good amount of damage and has a decent chance to ignite enemies, which deals additional damage to enemies who are burning. the damage and number of enemies ignited are both great at low levels, but the orb of fire will fall off rapidly after this. the orb of fire does not explode like other bombs, nor does it deal aoe damage like hailstorm or cyclonic rift. the prismatic boltI is a great support spell, but by the time you get the orb of fire, it's a bit too late to make it worth spamming. brand is the best skill to invest in. it gives you the passive, which increases the damage of all your spells and charge effects. the damage bonus scales with your weapon dps, which is higher in high levels than prismatic bolt. if you want a skill that does more than the passive, look into brand's companion, flamestrike. it deals a lot of damage to all enemies around a target, and is the best aoe support skill for the embermage.

the next skill is added fire. with this skill, you can increase your fire damage by a small amount, but it's not really worth it. it's basically a chance to take a small amount of additional fire damage. prismatic rift still applies a lot of damage and that will more than make up for the damage increase. the last skill in this build is increased fire damage. this skill seems like a lot at first, but it's actually a bit lackluster. when used well, you'll be spamming prismatic bolt, which is a critical part of the embermage's damage output. the best way to maximize fire damage is to make sure that your weapon has the optimal fire attack. if it doesn't have a high fire attack, then get one. you'll want to make sure that you are spamming the button that has the most fire attack in your weapon. if that's not possible, you'll need to throw out your weapon. you will only use one of these skills when prismatic bolt is out, so there's no point in wasting a skill slot on something that's only going to be used 1/3 of the time. prismatic bolt: the embermage's main attack. everyone knows what prismatic bolt does. you make a massive burst of fireballs, dealing high damage to enemies in the area and high damage per second to enemies affected by immolation aura. it's a build-agnostic skill and is the most important skill in your arsenal. the important things to note about prismatic bolt are: there is no % damage multiplier on prismatic bolt, only on the tier iii bonus. prismatic bolt scales off of all other damage increases, like the embermage's other spells. having higher elemental damage makes your prismatic bolt more powerful. the tier iii bonus is the most important thing about prismatic bolt. 5ec8ef588b
