We are told in the context of the first resurrection that those who are in the first resurrection and are alive will also be raised with him in the second resurrection- There is no doctrine of future rewards that will be enjoyed by the Christian. In the physical resurrection to reward is removed. In the spiritual it is nonexistent. It is not erroneous to speak of the reward of the Kingdom of God. But what does that mean? It means that there will be a reward for those people who enter the Kingdom of God but that no reward has been secured for Christ's in his atoning work. All believers will have a resurrection body and all will be glorified. This is a living Church (1Th 1:9-note). Even as we gaze upon the heavens, the heavenly conditions and saints will be present in the morning. The religious leaders ask Peter what they should say to the people on the coming Sabbath. Christ's resurrection is the key to the people's salvation, so it is vital to announce the hope of a physical resurrection in response to the people's spirits' yearning for physical resurrection. It is crucial to remind the people of the promise of the firstfruits of the Spirit, which the apostles are now giving.

Disciples 3 Resurrection Crack 1.3

That personal, supernatural hope (rich and deep) gives every Christian the confidence that, through the resurrection of lesus, he too, will (will be) raised to new life at the time of the last judgment But the Christian's hope is a personal, supernatural, confident hope, resting on the objective fact of the resurrection (Phil. 3:21, 22, Ro 6:5). After all, that is what God has said: Christ has been raised from the dead. That is what the Scriptures say. The resurrection of Jesus from the dead is a fact. The belief in that fact is a source of supernatural confidence, which expresses itself in the Scriptures' lofty exhortations to live in hope. As the author of Hebrews puts it, hope is the real fruit of God's love which has worked in us to make us acceptable, blameless, imperishable, and purified (Heb 11:1, 2, 3, 7, 10, 11). It is the highest proof of the riches of the gospel and the best proof of lesus' return. It is the sure confidence that no matter what trials we face, the victory is already ours (1 John 5:4-9). We can rest confident knowing that the sin of our past will be forgiven, the promises of God's new covenant will be made our reality, and we will reign with him in the new heavens and new earth. The writer of Hebrews adds that "our hope is a confident expectation of eternal life" (10:23, 24). The hope of Christians is not a remote goal, but the certainty of their resurrection from the dead, quaranteed by a resurrected Savior. Their resurrection is the flash point of their confidence in the reality of life after death. 5ec8ef588b
