Last updated on May 3, 2018 If you're interested in a simple countdown timer that can alert you with text messages and sound, you can take a look at FRSCountdown. It's an easy-to-use application that drops any unnecessary features that would only complicate matters. Installing this software program takes little time and minimal effort since there are no special requirements involved.

FRSCountdown is wrapped in user-friendly GUI, made from a small window that reveals all options put at your disposal. Set a countdown timer for various tasks Set up a countdown task comes down to setting the duration and choosing the action to take when time's up. You can pick from flashing this window, playing sound or displaying a message. In fact, any combination out of these three actions can be made. Six types of sound are available, all belonging to the built-in Windows features (simple beep, OK, information, question, warning, error). Flashing window, sound, and popup text message Once the configuration is made, you only have to click the "play" button on the lower-right corner, then minimize the window to the taskbar to get it out of your way. The flashing mode simply brings up the window to the center of the screen, regardless of the application you're working with. This can be accompanied by sound and text. For instance, you can write the description of the task or event that the application is counting down to. Besides the fact that you can stop the countdown anytime if you change your mind, there are no other notable options provided by the tool. We haven't experienced any compatibility issues when installing FRSCountdown on the newest Windows edition in our tests. Unsurprisingly, it had minimal impact on PC performance, using few resources. It may not have an abundance of features, but FRSCountdown offers a simple solution for configuring a countdown timer. KEYMAC 2edc1e01e8

I don't know if it is because it was a trial version or what, but it was very bad. I ran the setup and I could not even find it anywhere. I searched the files and folders and the system wide files and nothing. I contacted them about this and they said it was a trial period.

How can I get a list of approved or rejected edits? I would like to get the list of all edits that have been approved or rejected by the person who made them (or "another user") in our site. This would be very useful for occasional monitoring, or to keep track of who is approving and rejecting edits. A: If you are referring to the list of edits that are pending, then the pending changes page already lists them: That said, it has nothing to do with how approved/rejected edits are handled. To figure out the number of approved/rejected edits done by a user, you can use the following query: You can modify this query to exclude one
