Some people use the term "white guilt" to insinuate that whites are inherently racist, while "black pride" implies that blacks are the only ones who suffer from racial prejudice and discrimination. What about "white hate"? If we use the term in the same way as "black pride," then "white hate" is a state of mind that affirms the superiority of whites over blacks and other people of color (including Asians). And since it is mainly a white phenomenon, it is really "white supremacy" in its purest form. Tom Wolfe defined a "New Radical" as a political activist who rejects the values of the traditional Left, or, the "Old Radicals" who were mainly concerned with building the proletariat movement. Wolfe defined the New Radicals as "dispossess[ed] of any traditions, any ethos of the past, any faith in any spirit or any virtue... out to destroy any system and with no intention of
